

Student Project - S02

Title Computer Controlled Cargo Handling System

Abstract This model container port is a hardware replica of a real container terminal. It has built-in cargo handling functions, including container offload from a truck, store and stack the container in an appropriate place, and retrieve the required cargo according to a pre-defined time table.

